While upon the verge of entering into new arrangements relative to the conduct of this business, we cannot refrain from touching upon a few of the many reforms in Lumber selling inaugurated by us. That we have served you well our extensive business attests. We introduced gang-sawed even thickness boards and joist in lieu of old circular sawed lumber. We introduced North Carolina Original Growth Kiln Dried Lumber in place of sap-stained second growth Virginia pine, and we combined hardware and millwork with the lumber business, so that you could buy everything that enters into the construction of a house at one place. And lastly we lowered the prices on all lumber and building materials so that cash buyers could find as low prices in Washington as in Baltimore, New York or any other city in America.

THE GAS TURNED ON

By Accident Was the Conclusion Reached by the Coroner. The death of Mr. John Culbert of the Treasury Department, who was asphyxiated in his room on 9th street Sunday night. as published in yesterday's Star, was investigated last evening by Coroner Woodward, who was satisfied that the gas was left turned through accident, and not intentionally. A verdict to that effect was given, and the body was taken in charge by a committee of the Washington Lodge of Elks and removed to the chapel of J. W. Lee's undertaking establishment, on Pennsylvania avenue. Mrs. Chestnut, sister of the deceased, arrived here last evening. The will of her brother was found, and it provided for an equal distribution of his property to his two sisters and a brother. Mr. George A. Mason was named as executor, and the dead man's effects were turned

A special meeting of the Washington Lodge of Elks was held last evening, Exalt-ed Ruler King presiding. Resolutions of sympathy were adopted, and arrangements which will take place from the chapel of the undertaking establishment at 8 o'clock this evening. The services, which will be cenducted by the Elks, will be public. The remains will be escorted to Philadelphia by a committee of Elks appointed at last night's meeting.

Suspected of Policy Playing. Frank Honesty, a colored man, who bears the reputation of being one of the shrewdest men who ever figured in the policy business in this city, was a prisoner in Judge Kimball's court today on a charge of vagrancy and suspicion. The prisoner wore good clothes and when arrested he had more than $20 in small change in his pocket and a railroad ticket for Alexandria. It was stated by the police that Frank had not been seen to do any work since last November, but he has been seen making his way in the direction of Alexandria, where there is said to be a policy shop running in there is said to be a policy shop running in open violation of iaw.

Lawyer Sillers, for Honesty, made a lengthy argument, but offered no sworn testimony in behalf of his client.

Judge Kimball discoursed on the evils of the game of policy, which, he said, the Police Court had been endeavoring to break up. He intended to do his duty in the matter, and instead of requiring the usual $20 bonds as is required in ordinary vagrancy cases, he fixed the bond at $200 or three months in default.

POWERS OF CONGRESS.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 80.-In the the big Philadelphia refineries, Judge Butler today decide in favor or the trust. As the case is a test one, it is believed an appeal to the supreme court will be taken in order that no doubt as to the legality of the purchase of the local refineries shall

The bill charges that the American Sugar Refining Company entered into an unlawful and fraudulent scheme to purchase the stock, etc., of the refineries of E. C. Knight Company, the Spreckels Sugar Refining Company, the Franklin Sugar Refining Company and the Delaware Sugar Refining Company and the Delaware Sugar house of this city, with the design of monopolizing the manufacture and sale of refined sugar in the United States.
The material facts proved are that the American Sugar Refining Company and the four sugar refineries above mentioned were incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania and authorized to purchase refineries and sell sugar. The object in purchasing the Philadelphia refineries was to obtain a greater influence over, more perfect control of the business of refining and selling sugar of the business of renning and seiling sugar in this country.

The principal questions raised, in Judge Butler's opinion, are these:
First. Do the facts show a contract, combination or conspiracy to restrain trade and commerce, or a monopoly within the legal signification of these terms? Second. Do they show such a contract, combination or conspiracy to restrain or monopolize trade or commerce among the several states or foreign nations?

3. Can the relief sought be had in this proceeding?

DR. LEON'S DEFENSE.

His Counsel, Col. Cook, Reviews the This morning the trial of Dr. Edward Leon, on the charge of murder of the infant of Miss Estelle E. Beach, on the 31st of October last, as the result of an abortion, alleged to have been performed on the young woman two days previously, was resumed in the Criminal Court, Division 2, Justice Cole. Mr. Cook proposed to read authorities as to whether Estelle Beach was an accomplice. Justice Cole said he would submit to the jury whether her testimony was corroborated. After some discussion the justice read the instructions he would give to the jury, to the effect that if they find Estelle Beach requested and consented to the operation she was an accomplice, and her testimony should be subjected to close scrutiny, and as a general rule it would be unsafe to rely on such testimony. If they suit brought by the government to test the find that she has been corroborated by legality of the sugar trust's absorption of other witnesses and facts, such corroboration removes the objection. He proceeded to pass upon the other prayers and read an additional instruction as to the definition of the offense.

Col. Cook's Argument. Shortly after 10 o'clock Col. Cook comnenced his argument, saying there were various means for accomplishing what was charged; that it could be, for example, done by the woman herself. The time when the deed was done was fixed at 1:50 o'clock, on Sunday, October 29, and the question was narrowed down to whether Dr. Leon, at that particular time, on that particular person, performed that particular operation, for that particular purpose. It was not for the defendant to prove his inno-cence, but for the government to establish his guilt. After stating that the prisoner was in the keeping of the jury, and the re-sponsibilities of their position, he spoke of the defendant as an old man. The presumpthe defendant as an old man. The presumption of his innocence must be removed by a preponderance of guilt. Mr. Cook then sketched the requirements of the law, and commented on the testimony for the government, and said, aside from the testimony of the woman and of the others, it did not prove that the act was performed that day.

Where was the corroboration? Who saw her leave her home at 1:30 o'clock? Where is the lover who is said to have been with her? asked Col. Cook. He reviewed the her? asked Col. Cook. He reviewed the testimony of the government and claimed that the testimony of Dr. Holden, Mrs. Kain, Dr. Woodward and others should be thrown out, as it all ante-dated the crime. He then took up the testimony of Miser and others and asked if their testimony should be thrown out, claiming that it had not been impeached. At this point a recess was taken.

Ephraim Nash, one of the interesting figures of this city, was carried to his grave yesterday afternoon. The funeral was at-tended by hundreds of the poor colored people, to whom especially for years his sympathies had gone forth. His record consists in deeds of kindness and devotion to the poor, the neglected, the outcast. Three years ago he gave the valuable property at the corner of North Capitol and Pierce streets to the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church as a memorial institution, to be known as the "Lucy Webb Hayes Bible and Training School and Deaconess Home." This large and commodious house was at that time his home. He moved into a much smaller place. He was always most self-denying. As was most befitting, his funeral services were held in the institution. A large number of clergymen were present. Among those who participated were Rev. Doctors Naylor and Todd, Rev. Messrs. To Maintain a Cycle Track. for a cycle track. This has been something which no one club could afford, but which together will be a simple matter. The need for just this sort of a thing, where race may be run and practice carried on is great, and the track will be the first subject considered by the new association. Two sites have been offered and considered, one at Tenleytown and one at Brightwood. No definite terms have been come to as yet, but the Brightwood track is considered the more available, and can be obtained for somewhere in the neighborhood of $500 a year. It will need surfacing before it can be used, but otherwise is in suitable condition. Whether or not a club house will be erected there, cannot be told so early, but some sort of sheds or cover and a grand stand will be erected at any rate.

In aid of the track fund the Georgetown club will give a fair for one week, commencing February 12, which is intended to be a very nice thing. Although the Georgetown club will give a hand. The Georgetown club will give working of the proceeds, which are expected to run up to a thousand dollars or more, to the track fund, while the remainder will go to their own club.

The associated cycling clubs of Washington is something which has long been needed and which will unquestionably be of much value to the cycling interests of Washington. The members say that the success of the organization is already assured, and that it will be no fizzle, but an as citive and living body. It is intended not as a means of absorbing the individual to the club inferests will remain as ever. But the new organization will be something under which they can all raily and work of the large and general interests of the riders of the silent steed in Washington.

How the Charges of Professionalism Against the Columbia Are Regarded. What looks to be a serious charge, but, in day next, reality, is only skin deep, has been made against the Columbia Athletic Club of this city. At a recent meeting of the Atlantic with Tom Eck, their manager, tomorrow night reality, is only skin deep, has been made Association of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, charges of professionalism and violation of the rules of the organization with the figure skating championship has been declared off for the year owing to lack of entries. were brought against the Baltimore Athletic Club, the Baltimore Outing Club and the Columbia Athletic Club, and it was announced that these charges would be formally presented to the association at their regular meeting in Philadelphia on Febwould be given a hearing, and action taken medical corps of the army and five in the in regard to the matter.

A charge of professionalism, as is well A charge of professionalism, as is well known, is a serious charge, and one which, if proved, would result in temporary suspension or expulsion from the Amateur Union. The officials of the Columbia Club are giving themselves no worry, however, for in the first place, they claim that the charges, if made at all, can only be made against individuals, and not against the club, and, furthermore, that the charges against any individuals can easily be disproved. The matter came up at the autumn exhibition of the Columbias, when numerous sparring events were on the bills. In these the Warren Athletic Club of Wilmfigton entered several professional men unknown to the Columbia managers. The blame, so far as either club is concerned, therefore, rests on the Warren Club for false entries.

If any of the Columbia men had been in the events with these professionals, however, they would, as individuals, be responsible to the association on the charge of professionalism. It is claimed by the Columbias, though, that none of their men were entered in the events questioned, and so they are implicated neither as individuals nor as a club. Mr. Howard Perry, the representative of the Columbias at the coming meeting in Philadelphia, will answer the charges made, and troubles himself not at all in regard to the case. He thinks that the charges can be disposed of in short order. known, is a serious charge, and one which, if only young doctors who have taken

Some of the fowls he sold at grocery stores, his low prices finding willing buyers. Many hen roosts have been robbed during the year, but it was not until a few days ago that Reed was suspected of being the robber. Reed was suspected of being the robber. Then Detectives Weedon and Lacy had reason to suspect him, and only two days afterward they received the information that two roosts were robbed. The officers started out to investigate Reed. Their suspicions were soon confirmed, and yesterday afternoon he was arrested. After getting him in custody the officers went in fearch of the fowls. The house of a woman on Cleveland avenue was visited and there two of the fowls were in a pot, being put in condition for dinner, and the officers told Mrs. Johnson that she in a pot, being put in condition for dinner, and the officers told Mrs. Johnson that she might just as well enjoy them. Two live ones were also found, and they were taken. At a grocery store on 15th street a hen and rooster were found and Reed was identified as the individual who had sold them to the storekeeper.

The prisoner admitted that he had visited the hennery of Mr. Morrison, No. 957 Florida avenue, and told his manner of operating. He said that when he reached the hen house he took the fowls by the legs and bills and threw them over the fence. Then, he said, when they flocked together, he car-ried off several of them and made a second trip to get the others.
